

The first time pass rate for NEBOSH Exams is low. One of the most common reasons for this is poor revision and examination technique by candidates who are unfamiliar with sitting exams. This short guidebook provides candidates with advice specifically on how to revise and prepare for exams to help them pass first time, maybe even get a credit or distinction! In recognizing that preparing for exams is very different from course study, the guide takes the reader, step by step, through the process of revision including planning, setting priorities, using an iterative study technique called the Revision Cycle, and advice for sitting the exams themselves. Whilst aimed specifically at NEBOSH candidates the advice is applicable to any student who is required to sit closed book, written exams. Before publication a reviewer wrote "It's excellent. I wish I'd had something like this when I was doing my exams. It is proper advice and not heavy to read".
